

FREMANTLE STUDIES DAY 2010

The 2010 Fremantle Studies Day once again explores the diversity of the history of this historic port town, from the earliest evidence of human habitation to the effect of the war and politics on and off the football field.

The State and Federal seats of Fremantle: past, present and future

Dr Martin Drum, Notre Dame University

Archaeological evidence for the earliest known Aboriginal presence in the Greater Fremantle area

Charles Dortch, former curator of archaeology at the WA Museum

Football in Fremantle in colonial times

Dr Steve Errington, former head of Curtin University's Department of Chemistry and football fanatic extraordinaire

Home front heroines & Hollywood heroes? Fremantle women and the impact of the American servicemen that passed through Fremantle 1942-1945.

Madison Lloyd-Jones, Notre Dame Australia PhD student.

RECEPTION ROOMS : City of Fremantle (enter via steps, St John's Square)

Sunday 31 October, 2010

Registration 1 pm; Papers from 1.30 – 5.00 pm (afternoon tea included)

$12 members. $15 non-members (join on the day for member's price)

RSVP by 22 October essential – 9430 6096, 0403 026 096 or

dianne.davidson@gmail.com

Join us after the papers have been presented for the launch of Fremantle Studies vol 6 by local heritage hero, John Dowson.

Light refreshments served.

